The Long Run

The man who starts with a sprint in a ten-mile race is apt to end with a limp or drop out altogether.

Occasionally in a desperate attempt to underbid us for business, a mail order company sends a circular down here that fairly reeks with slaughtered prices.

If you ever get such a circular, bring it in. Let's look it over and see what's hidden in the woodpile. Our cost of doing business here is lower than that of any mail order house on earth.

We're not amassing any fortune from swollen profits, either.

So if anybody can underbid us and put quality in their furniture, they're "going some."

Now's a good time to stock up on the new piece or two you need.

You Look Comfortable

Anyone can be comfortable in one of these porch chairs. They are ventilated so you don't stick, and they have no harsh twists or corners. They give to fit your body.

Porch Furniture

like this is a good investment. It invites you outdoors, where you get the fresh air and keep cool. Our selection this year is far above our average, and we have a few special pieces which will be sold this week at a great reduction. They won't stay here long.

Recital by Miss Gale's Pupils.

The pupils of Miss Gladys N. Gale gave a piano recital in Howland hall Saturday afternoon, when an audience made up of friends and relatives of the participants in the program greeted the young musicians and showed by their applause that each number was appreciated. All the performers played without notes, showing very creditable work done in memory training. The work of young pupils is always interesting and shows what training can do toward leading to an acquaintance of the best music, as well as to a graceful self-possession that may be of use in later years.

The presentation of such a class must be a source of satisfaction to both instructor and parents, and the pupils are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they have profited by their instruction, as shown by the excellence of their performance Saturday afternoon.
